Summary

Hello, my name is Nick and thank you for considering my application and resume. Through my past work, I took on many roles as a summer camp cabin leader, teaching children life lessons, how to have fun without technology, and how to better themselves. I am one who loves to talk and make friends with other people. I also have experience with computers, networking, programming, project management, and web development. I have also had great experiences through helping friends and family and with volunteer work and I will take those experiences and knowledge with me throughout life. I love music and play many instruments like piano, guitar, and trumpet. I am very mature for my age and I am always polite and respectful to others. I assure you that I will do whatever is necessary for my job requirements and I will do them proficiently.
